

Sixth Form Weekly Notes – Mon 16th Jan 2023

Week 1

Key messages:

Well done to all those who received results they were happy with last week. EPQ and Math and English resits – well done. Well done to those who sat Criminology NEAs and Health and Social Care (and good luck Monday) exams too.

Mon 16th you may be asked to go home and change if not dressed in line with the dress code. As with lanyards, we would rather be talking to you about teaching and learning etc but we also want to get this right.

Lanyards

Students should wear their lanyard around their neck at all times, when on-site

Joggers and other sports wear

Joggers and other sports wear is only to be worn on Wednesday afternoons.

Crop-tops

Exposed mid-riffs are not part of the dress code regardless of gender or weather.

Piercings

Nose studs are ok but nose rings, bars and other facial piercings are not.

Jeans

Jeans are part of the dress code but ripped jeans are not.

Skirts / dresses

Skirts / dresses should always be worn to an acceptable length, just above the knee and no shorter than mid-thigh.

Key dates:

- Tues 17th Jan – 2.15pm – Apprenticeship presentation and support from
Amazing Apprenticeships
- Tuesday 24th January (afternoon) to speak with anyone who would like to discuss further about careers in the Navy.
- Weds 25th Jan – Yr13 exams start
- W/b 30th Jan – Yr13 – no lessons – exam study leave all week
- Tues 7th Feb - 13.20-14.10 pm – Yr13 workshop on CVs and Interviews

'The most radical new university to open in decades.' - The Times

At LIS, we believe that answers to the world's most complex problems won't come from a single subject or specialism – that we need to bring together the arts, sciences and humanities.

That's why we teach undergraduates, postgraduates and professionals how to solve complex, real-world problems by applying knowledge and skills from a range of disciplines.

But the dots won't connect themselves. That's where you come in.

Good news:

Indie bookshops had another brilliant year

Times are tough for Britain's high streets, but amid the economic gloom, indie bookshops are bucking the trend.

According to the Bookseller's Association, the number of independent shops that it represents grew for the sixth consecutive year in 2022. It now stands at 1,072, a 10-year high.

The revival was in full swing before the pandemic, but accelerated in lockdown. "During the pandemic we saw a frankly astonishing number of new entrants to bookselling," said Meryl Halls, MD of the Bookseller's Association.

She added: "Bookshops are crucially important – and valued – parts of our high street communities. They bring social and cultural capital to every town, village, suburb or city centre they are part of."
