The event will run from 18:00 until 20:00. It is strongly advised that your child accompanies you to the event as feedback from parents and students in previous years is that this is most beneficial.

The purpose of the evening is to:

- Ensure that you and your child are aware of where to access specification content.
- Ensure that you and your child are aware of how they will be assessed in subject areas and particularly in English and Maths.
- Deepen understanding about the importance of retrieval practice and interleaving, and the science behind learning and memory.
- Share revision techniques and strategies that your child can utilise in the lead up to their internal assessments, and in preparation for their GCSE examinations next summer.

To enable us to plan effectively for the event, we ask that you register your intention to attend by clicking here and indicate how many people will be in attendance. You only need to submit one return per family. The form will close at 09:00 on Tuesday 22nd September, 2025. On the next page, you will find the timetable for the In-Class Mock assessments which start the week beginning 6th October.

We look forward to seeing you at the event, and continuing to work with your child throughout this busy yet fulfilling term.

Before the revision evening, subject teachers will provide students with a list of topics on epraise that are being assessed so that students can focus on the content that they need to revise. This may be set centrally in each subject and by a teacher that is not your child's usual teacher but the heading will contain the term Year 11 Mocks. Other homework will continue to be set in each subject area as teaching continues until the start of the in-class Mock fortnight.
